

Space Dash

,Space Dash: Earth Defender' available on the Apple App Store and the Android Market

Help Astro, a monkey from outta space, to save the earth. Can you save it? Equipped just by trash you start an adventurous journey through the solar system.

Space Dash is a free mobile game available for iOS and Android. It's the first project by the young team of indie developers "Grape Leaf Studios". Helping Astro, a monkey from outta space, it's on you to battle the invaders who want to rule the earth. All you have for your defense? Trash!

"The earth is attacked by aliens! Can you save it? Equipped just by trash you start an adventurous journey through the solar system. But watch out! Bigger enemies wait for you at every planet you pass." That's what the developers reveal about their mobile game. Space Dash was released for iOS and Android in March 2016.

Andreas Amon, who started to realize his idea in 2015, took profit from a lot of user feedbacks in the beta phase to make the wishes and ideas from many game fans come true. "In the beta phase we noticed the big potential of Space Dash. We were very thankful to everyone who shared their thoughts about this game with us. And now we're very proud we developed this special game together. And let's just be honest. Who doesn't love to throw light bulbs and fire their enemies with fruits?"

What their fan base is loving about Space Dash's is the simplicity and the addictivity – that's why Space Dash is a great pastime game.

The Name "Grape Leaf Studios" has its roots at Lower Austria's Weinviertel, where they grew up. Furthermore the game mechanics to defend the earth with junk is achieved to reach awareness for overproduction and the waste of food and resources.

Space Dash by "Grape Leaf Studios", a young and talented development team was released in March 2016 and is available on the Apple App Store and Android PlayStore.
